Dear [redacted] Your memorandum of 9 October attached to samples of new material for document reproduction work has been reviewed by specialists in my division, and we are very much interested in the possibilities it holds for our work here. I thank you very much for calling it to our attention and look forward to an early date when you might again be over here for a briefing, at which time we could discuss with you some of the details of our interest and its application, and the way that we might be able to obtain other samples and knowledge of the use of your material.

With kindest personal regards,
